MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS.

—Sealskins are originally of a light drab color, but as found in the market are always dyed.

—Careful measurements prove that the average curvature of the earth is 6.99 inches to the statute mile.

—The velocity of the earth's rotation on its axis at the equator is 1,440 feet per second, or nearly 25,000 miles a day.

—The most d[illegible] waters in the world for the pass[illegible]ships lie off the east coast of England, Cape Ushant, in France, and Cape Finisterre, in Spain.

—In the bear family the polar bear is the most valuable, the best skins realizing from $50 to $130 apiece. The fur is usually dyed black and made up into wraps and rugs.

—Silver fox skins have become exceedingly rare, and bring fancy prices, fine specimens recently bringing $875. These skins are usually bought up by the Russians and French.

—Red irritates oxen because it is the complementary color to green, and the eyes of cattle being fixed so much on herbage, anything red impresses their sight with hugely increased intensity.

—In many parts of Central and South America sensitive plants are so numerous that the course of man or animal through the undergrowth may for an hour be traced by the wilted appearance of the foliage.

—The ordinary American fox skins to the amount of 70,000 or 90,000 are annually sold in London at prices varying from 50 cents to four dollars. These skins are great favorites in eastern countries, such as Turkey, Greece, Russia and Bulgaria.

—It is an extraordinary fact that only two presidents were born between April and October. The record by months is as follows: January, two; February, three; March, four; April, four; July, one; August, one; October, three; November, four; December, two

A HORSELESS-CARRIAGE FACE.

Awful Visage That Will Surpass the Bicycle Face.

The "bicycle face" will now yield the palm to that awful visage known as the "horseless-carriage face." That expression known as the "bicycle face" is caused by anxiety, apprehension and actual dread lest the owner run over This cast of countenance, brought about anxiety lest some bad accident occur, apprehension that the rider may be the victim, and positive, downright dread that some one else may be injured. These varying and powerful emotions, constantly playing upon a sympathetic soul, are reflected through ocular and nervous lines in the countenance technically known as "bicycle face." This cast of countenance, brought about by the most humane emotions of a sympathetic soul and reflected through the mirror of eyes and expression, is the opposite of that glare soon to become known as the "horseless-carriage face." When the modern moloch is in full operation the face of the rider undergoes an awful change. The lines of the mouth become set, rigid, immovable and stonily grim—just the opposite of the sympathetic bicycle face, in that it reflects a determination that if anybody is killed it won't be the owner of the "horseless-carriage face." There is also a look of fear—not fear that he may run down somebody, but fear that he won't. The eyes have a fixed and steely glare, while over the whole saturnine face is the impress of horror, a faint but ever-present shadow that shows the modern moloch is impelled to pursue his work of devastation by some potent hellish power. Once seated on this powerful engine of destruction, with a firm grip on the lever, even the fairest countenance takes on some attributes of this "horseless-carriage face."—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

HER UNHAPPY INFIRMITY.

He Tried to Be Sympathetic, But the Lady Would Not Have It.

He was an angular man with gray ear whiskers. He gave up his seat in a crowded car with an alacrity that spoke well for the cheerfulness of his disposition. The lady who took the proffered seat was stout and haughty. She slipped into the vacant place without a word.

"The angular man looked at her thoughtfully. Then he stooped over and said:

"I had an uncle, ma'am, that had just that same affliction."

"Sir!" said the stout lady, with an insulted toss of her head.

"Yes," continud the angular man, "he couldn't pronounce any word beginning with 'th' to save his blessed neck That's right He'd stutter and stammer, an' the best he could do would be to give it the sound of 's' It was a dreadful affliction. His oldest son's name was Theophilus, but he always called him 'Sophilus.' Had it long, ma'am?"

The stout lady was dark red from vexation

"You are insulting," she snorted.

"Well, I don't wonder you hate to hear anyone refer to it, said the angular man with great cheerfulness. "But I couldn't help noticing it when you took my seat and wasn't able to say 'thank you.' I wouldn't have minded in the least if you'd said 'sank you'—oh, do you get off here? Good day, ma'am—never mind the thanks"

And the stout lady flounced down the street to take the next car.

The Evil Eye.

Savage people have a superstition that an evil eye may be cast upon a person to bring all sorts of trouble and misfortune. That seems like a pretty foolish notion; but it isn't much worse than some of the notions which civilized people indulge in. One worn out superstition is the belief that if a man inherits weak lungs from his parents he is pretty sure to die of consumption. The actual fact is that if such a man will only take proper care of himself he will really be safer from consumption than a careless person who has no inherited weakness. Carelessness is the real evil eye. Carelessness will develop a tendency to consumption in any body.

The lungs are composed of very delicate, sensitive tissue, even in the healthiest person; that is why they yield so quickly to the attack of tainted blood If the blood is allowed to get impure and impoverished, and bile-poisoned, the seeds of consumption will spring up in the best kind of a constitution The real consumption-taint is in the blood

Hundreds of cases of so-called "hereditary" consumption have been completely and permanently rooted out of the system by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, simply because it gives the blood-making glands power to pour a fresh abundant supply of rich, red, healthy, blood into the circulation. This drives out all poisonous and unhealthy germs. It stops the waste of tissue and the formation of morbid deposits, builds up fresh, normal, healthy lung tissue and solid, muscular strength.

In all the weakened debilitated conditions which are the forerunners of consumption, Dr Pierce's Discovery is the most perfect nutritive and strength-builder It is assimilated by the weakest stomachs

An Important Omission.

At a prayer meeting recently held in one of the churches not a thousand miles from Utica there was manifested a desire on the part of some of the participants to praise themselves. One man, says the Utica Observer, even went back to the days of his boyhood to show how good he had been even at that time. He said that one day, while walking along a country road, he suddenly discovered in one of his pockets a dollar belonging to his employer, which he had neglected to turn over to the latter. With crushing force the thought came to him that his employer would miss the dollar and believe him to be dishonest. Overcome by that thought he sat down by the roadside and wept. There the story ended. Those who heard the pathetic narrative were deeply moved, and one of the women present subsequently told her young son about it, probably with the intention to produce a good effect upon the youthful mind. But the youthful mind didn't seem to be impressed. The thoughtful boy remained silent for a few moments, and then, he burst out with: "Say, ma, did the man tell whether he ever gave the dollar back?"

The Press in Japan.

Japanese journalism, says a missionary's wife, is a singular profession in many of its features. There is practically no such thing as freedom of the press in Japan. Whenever a newspaper publishes something unfriendly to the government it is suppressed, and the editor is sent to prison. The real editor is never imprisoned, though. Every newspaper has what the Japanese call a dummy editor," and his s[illegible] to jail every time the paper [illegible] sed for offending the mikado [illegible] the real editor changes the name of the paper, and keeps on publishing it Japanese editors spend most of their time in prison.

REMINISCENCES OF EARLY DAYS DO NOT PAY DIVIDENDS

It is quite amusing to hear some of he old fellows of three score or more f years tell what they would do if they ere young men or if they were only orty years old, when referring to the laska mines. No doubt they are in ead earnest, but when one takes the ains to inquire into the early lives of hese men it will be found that nineteen ut of every twenty came to California the early fifties and to Nevada when he first silver was found on the Comock. They were broke then, but had onderful opportunities and in many stances made money, yet it was of omparatively little benefit to them exept to spend lavishly and go broke gain and now that they are old and ent with age they delight in reciting he glowing tales "of the days of old, he days of gold, the days of '49," and olunteer advice to the younger generions and tell of the hardships they ndured and what opportunities they id. In nearly every case however, all ese good men have for a stock in ade, are their reminiscences of the lden days. They were the pioneers at opened up the new El Dorado of at period and the money sharks, land abbers and speculators came at a ter day and reaped the harvest when was ripe and the sower of the seeds fortune have nothing but their exrience to relate. Such is human ature however and such it will be to e end of time. It is easy to tell of what was and what might have been," t as a rule it is poor satisfaction.

THE "GAZETTE'S" PERIODICAL SPASM.

The Gazette had its monthly spasm st evening over an error, that occurred in an editorial in yesterday's URNAL, caused no doubt by careless oof reading. It also calls especial atation to the fact that the JOURNAL s not mentioned directly or indictly that Senators Stewart and Jones ted for the tariff bill. This statement is about as near as the Gazette, less by accident, ever gets at the uth. The JOURNAL did publish the evada Senators position and vote on e tariff bill on Sunday, July 25th, 07. The Gazette also criticises what calls the "wild statements" of the URNAL. If the JOURNAL attempted en generally, without going into del, to pick the flaws in the Gazette's tements, editorially and otherwise, would be a hopeless task. From a ighborly feeling and with that grand of fraternal tenets, Charity, the URNAL has refrained from reproduca number of criticisms on the Gae, published within the last month papers in the State.

BRITISH CONCEIT.

Late dispatches say that the London pers construe Japan's protest to the nexation of the Hawaiian Islands to United States to mean war. In t England seems to be more exered over the probable annexation n does the United States or even Japanese Government.

The London Globe in commenting on the matter refers to the cynical olence of the American Minister d concludes as follows: "Should it our misfortune to engage in a quarwith our kin beyond the sea we st sieze Hawaii immediately." Of rse this is simply British bluff. e fact that the United States might ect to such a proceeding doesn't m to have been considered at all. s quite probable that this governnt would be there to give our Britkinsmen a warm reception on their ival. It is wonderfully strange how ckly they have forgotten a couple arly experiences with their Ameri cousins, also the fact that we have wn since that period.

GOVERNOR BUDD has appointed Mrs. Phebe R. Hearst a member of the ard of Regents of the California te University to fill the vacancy ated by the death of Colonel cker. For a long time Mrs. Hearst taken the greatest interest in the versity and from time to time has owed scholarships. She now conplates the erection of a specially owed memorial building.

DECREES for the sale of the Union ific railroad under foreclosure of rtgage have been received by John Cowin, special United States Attorat Omaha. The decrees are signed all the parties to the suit and Judge derson will make the final order of this week. It now appears that road will be sold to pay a part of indebtedness of the company to Government.

FAMOUS writing experts pronounce receipt for $9,500, which Figel said been signed by Hoffman, who was rdered in his store in San Francisco, rgery. The testimony of these exts shows that Figel had a motive in ing Hoffman out of the way.

TELEGRAPHIC NOTES.

It was estimated that several thousand miners were in camp on the hills surrounding the New York and Cleveland Gas Company's property near Pittsburg. They came there headed by bands, nearly all carrying a heavy walking stick and some armed. There were no demonstrations of violence, but immediately on arrival prepared to go into camp. At 4 o'clock in the morning a company of 100 men marched passed the houses occupied by the men of deArmitt's mine They cheered and hooted and upon arriving at the mine stationed themselves there, compelling the de Armitt men to run the gauntlet to get to work.

Shortly after Sheriff Lowry who had been wired for assistance arrived from Pittsburg with fifty deputies armed with winchesters. The strikers quietly withdrew and the deputies were placed on guard.

At the mass meeting at 10 o'clock there were 3,000 striking miners present and 5,000 people in the vicinity. As the miners started to enter the mine, the strikers started on a run to intercept them, five shots from the winchesters served to check them. In answer to the shots a lively air was struck up by the drum corps, but no return shots were fired. The miners who were hurrying into the pits were overtaken and asked not to go to work, but most of them replied that they were afraid of losing their jobs if they stayed away from the mine and attended the meeting. After a short parley they decided to go to work. Their dinner buckets were then taken away from them.

Previous to the meeting Debs and other strike officers went among the men and counseled them to keep within the bounds of the law. The speakers at the meetings urged upon the miners that they were jeopardizing the success of the strike and asked them to come out and make the suspension complete.

At Wheeling, West Virginia, the strikers are marching to the mines at Boggs Run where a few men are still at work.

The miners look with favor on the coming conference between Governor Atkinson, Gompers, Sovereign and Ratchford. A great effort will be made to stop production in Ohio and Marshall counties. New indications of trouble in the Monogah district developed yesterday. The wives of striking miners to the number of 200 attacked the Italian and negro non-union diggers. The eviction of strikers from company houses along the Monogah Valley is in rapid progress. It is claimed by Ratchford that 100 organizers will be put into West Virginia.

The New Jersey floods have receded somewhat leaving a trail of desolation in and about Elizabeth. The town of Waterbury, Conn., is again under water. The Naugatuck river is at an unprecedented height and has overflowed its banks. Great damage has resulted.

A reign of terror prevails in Mobile, Alabama, over three murders committed Wednesday night by negroes. The officers have been compelled to resort to every means to protect the prisoners from lynching parties and the local troops have been called out.

Charles Spencer, a lad of 15 years, suicided at San Andreas, where he was spending his vacation, yesterday. His parents reside at Berkeley and can assign no cause for their son's act.

Secretary Long has rejected the offer of the armor plate companies to supply diagonal armor for the battle ships Alabama, Wisconsin and Illinois now being built.

THE BOOK WORLD.

Miss Braddon has completed a new story which is called "Under Love's Rule."

Mr. Rider Haggard has finished a new novel dealing with Boer life, entitled "The Swallow."

S. R. Crockett has been taking a walking tour in Pomerania, we are advised by the English papers, no doubt with a view of acquiring "local color" for his new story, "The Red Axe," the scene of which is to be laid in Pomerania.

Mr. Richard Le Gallienne contracted his second marriage recently when he made Miss Julie Norregard, a London journalist, his wife. The witnesses were Mrs. James Welch and Mr. William Sharp, of literary note.

Pierre Loti, who is at present on active service on the French war ship Javelot, has produced a new book, "Ramuntcho," a study of Biscayan landscape and manners. Gaston Deschamps declares it to be "the true Loti, the Loti of the old manner."

A young woman has received the unusual honor of the freedom of a London guide. She is a daughter of Lord Amherst of Hackney, and, having written a "History of Gardening in England," has just been honored by the Worshipful Company of Gardeners.

Alexandre Dumas, the younger, is shortly to have his statue on the Place Malesherbes in Paris. Subscriptions are already being collected for the purpose, and as Dumas is a household name in France, it should be less difficult to raise the money than it has unfortunately been in the case of many other distinguished Frenchmen.

FOREIGN NOTES.

A London omnibus carries on an average of 2,500 passengers a week.

The Bermudas export over 17,000,000 pounds of onions annually.

The average density of the population in London is 38,000 per square mile.

A man who can wash dishes thinks he would have been an excellent housekeeper.

In Italy there are more theaters in proportion to the population than in any other country.

Miss Helen Cooper of Grass Valley left for her home yesterday morning. She recovered from the fright occasioned by her experience in the wreck of Wednesday, and, while she considers it an event in her life, does not care to have it repeated.

Encouraging reports come from the Olinghouse mines. There is some prospects of litigations and this is one of the best indications that the mines are good and worth fighting for. Just as soon as claim jumping and other troubles begin, the stability of the district will be established. The next thing on the program should be a shooting scrape even if the shooters do not hurt anyone.

The Carson News tells about a couple of drunks in a buggy racing up and down the streets of that town for several hours endangering the lives of women and children and frightening teams. Where were the officers of that progressive town during the performance mentioned? Such an exhibition would have lasted about two minutes here and somebody would most probably have gone to the cooler and wound up with thirty days in the jug.

Some System of Booking Should be Adopted.

In reviewing the late accident at Laughton's and considering the difficulty of obtaining the names of the crew and others on the train, the idea is suggested that railroads should have some system of knowing who they are carrying. Usually a passenger, unless it is for an extended journey, goes to a ticket window, purchases a ticket and gets on a train. The conductor has no means of knowing who his passengers are. The tickets are produced, punched or taken up and that ends the transaction. It frequently occurs that the proper names of a crew of a train are unknown to the conductor in charge. Considering this in connection with such an accident as happened on Wednesday occurring at night or during the Winter months when the train might have caught fire from lamps or the heating stoves and passengers burned beyond recognition or mangled so as not to be identified, a record giving the name, point of departure and destination of those on the train would save a world of trouble and in the event of emergency friends could be notified and steps taken towards the relief on the tracing up of some unknown. Ship masters have the purser's register to refer to and it is frequently of great importance in the way of identification and the names of the lost in case of accident.

Such a system might add a little more to the general work of the train master, but there are many instances where it would certainly pay for the trouble and frequently be a source of great satisfaction. Of course objections can be made to such a method, but they are simply that the details of the business of transportation would be increased, while on the other hand there are a dozen features that can be recommended in favor of such a system. The time will come, no doubt, when every passenger will be compelled to register before entering a train, not only for the purpose of identification, but to aid the officers of the law in apprehending criminals.

Off for the Klondyke.

Twenty-five thousand people gathered at the Mission street pier to see the steamer Excelsior off with her load of passengers for the Klondyke gold fields. The sights were varied. Some were ridiculous, some comical and others sad. Men looked at their wives and babies, perhaps for the last time; mothers bid goodbyes to sons never to see them again on earth; lovers with renewed promises of faithfulness unto death, no doubt pledged with sincerity and honest belief that they would soon be re-united, clung to each other until the last moment of parting, never dreaming that a few short months would change their hearts and that new loves would be found during the separation that would crush the old, and so the scene went on until the lines were cast and pulled in and the steamer swung into the stream and in a few minutes disappeared. But such is the greed for gold that all else is of secondary consequence and families, friends and those that are near and dear are perhaps forever lost to each other.

It really seems at times that with all of our boasted civilization, education, ambition and progressiveness, that the one insane desire for gold overcomes all else, including pride, affection and even honesty, and the aborigineee with their simple life, limited knowledge of the world and the satisfaction and peace of mind they have when their few wants are supplied, are really to be envied by those who claim to be their superiors.

Hobos and Drunken Indians Celebrate.

Officers Leeper and Logan had a roundup of hobos and drunken Indians yesterday afternoon. The leader of the hobo outfit was a one-legged fellow who seemed to direct the movements of the balance. Officer Logan corralled this fellow, and gave him some emphatic advice that he had better jump the town p. d. q. and he hobbled off towards Verdi. Another fellow was rounded up in Chinatown celebrating with an Indian on China gin. He made some racket about going to the cooler and created some excitement, but Logan's "persuader" had the desired effect and he will attend Judge Linn's levee this morning.

Officer Leeper found a wild aborigineo in the alley back of the Arcade with his war paint on and considerable benzine aboard, he having just gained a victory over a poor blind Indian by knocking him down. Leeper entertained him for a few moments and took a gun from him, and he will probably have an opportunity to help saw up the Winter's wood at the Courthouse.

A Steamer for Alaska.

C. C. Powning has interested himself with a San Francisco syndicate which has chartered the steamer Caspar for Lyea. She will sail on August 4th and fare, including the freight on one ton of supplies, can be had for $125. The office of the company is opposite the Palace Hotel, 628 Market street, where all information can be secured. It is expected that there will be an early rush for tickets and the rule will be "first come first served." Those contemplating the journey to Alaska should made immediate application. The advertisement of the steamer appears in another column.

Ed Black is stationed at the scene of the late wreck as operator. He has his telegraphic instruments in a box on a telegraphic pole and takes orders and sends reports from there. During the interim while there is no business he sits on a fence and fights mosquitoes.

The Question Whether the Military Court Has Jurisdiction, to be Settled.

Judge Cheney will go to Virginia today to preside in place of Judge Mack in the case of Lieutenant Morgan vs. the Military Court which was to have tried the Lieutenant by court martial on a charge of insubordination. Lieutenant Morgan brought a civil proceeding enjoining the military court from sitting, on the ground of non-jurisdiction and acting without authority of law. The question whether the military or civil court under the laws of Nevada has the superior jurisdiction in such cases will be tested and the military law interpreted. The case is an interesting one and will be closely watched. Judge Mack is a relative of Lieutenant Morgan, hence he requested Judge Cheney to preside in his stead.

A Correction.

The item in last evening's Gazette saying that no court would be held here until September was an error. Judge Cheney will go to Virginia today where he will hold court for Judge Mack, and will return and hold court here to-morrow. Besides being regular law day, the case of Anderson vs. Shearer will be heard, also the case of Bailey vs. Higgins is set for hearing.

Arrangements have been made so that Judge Mack will attend to any urgent matters which may arise during Judge Cheney's absence in the month of August.

Kicked by a Mule.

Sheriff McDaid of Winnemucca was kicked by a mule Tuesday and severely injured. He was at Cane Springs on official business and was just preparing to start for home. Wm. Hill brought Mr. McDaid to Winnemucca and Dr. Hanson, who attended the injured man, does not think the injury will cause any serious trouble further than to cripple him up for a few days.

The steamer Portland which is expected to arrive from St. Michael with $2,000,000 in gold will be convoyed by the revenue cutter Bear. P. B. Weare, President of the North American Transportation Company and owner of the Portland, has asked the Treasury Department for protection as he fears an attempt will be made by pirates to capture the cargo.

The widow of Lieutenant Schwatka, the Arctic explorer, who has repeatedly visited the Klondyke gold regions with her husband, declares that the Government should stop the tide of immigration into that country. She says the mountain passes are strewn with the skeletons of thousands who have perished from either cold, hunger or malaria.

Quite a number of people visited the scene of the wreck yesterday and were greatly interested in watching the crew at work in the endeavor to right the cars and replace them on the track.

A farmer's taxes in Turkey are classified thus: (1) One-tenth of all crops and fruits; (2) four per cent. of the renting value of house and lands; (3) five per cent. on every transfer; (4) an annual cattle tax of 32 pence on every sheep and 21 pence on every goat. The taxes are rigorously collected.

The state of Washington, and, in fact, the whole Pacific coast, is looking forward to an unusual number of tourists, investors and home seekers this year, and business is on the increase already. Ten years ago there was a great influx of settlers, and it is expected that this year's will almost equal it.

The new telephone cable between England and France is now laid across the channel. It is 24 miles long and runs from Abbott's cliff, three miles west from Dover, to Sangatte, four miles west of Calais. This is the second telephonic line connecting the two countries, and the French government will shortly lay the third cable.
